ABSTRACT

User interfaces for facilitating performance analysis for processing include a first window and a second window. The first window identifies events that have been captured during processing of a set of commands by a processing unit, such as during the drawing of a video frame by a graphics processing unit. The second window includes information regarding the processing of the set of commands at different chronological points during processing, such as showing how the frame appears at different chronological points while being drawn.